Think, just because you have been suffering terribly with Rheumatism or Neuralgia, that you must always continue to suffer. Nor think just because nobody has been able to cure you or your friends that Rheumatism and Neuralgia are incurable. Think that a cure is impossible just because the physicians have been unable to accomplish it. Nor think that because ATALOPHOROS has not been known ever since the foundation of the world, it will not cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Neglect the testimony of the hundreds of sufferers who have tried ATALOPHOROS and are now sound and healthy. Nor think that because you have tried fifty other things that failed, that ATALOPHOROS is like them. Don't be discouraged! The very thing that will cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia is ATALOPHOROS. Don't be Skeptical! ATALOPHOROS has cured others. It will Cure YOU. If you cannot see ATALOPHOROS, send your name and address to the publisher, and you will receive a sample of the medicine free of charge. WHISKY AND KNIVES.

The Fatal Combination Which Cost a Brother's Life at a Family Gathering.

Andrew Squires, Having Worsted His Brother Joseph, Hacks Him to Pieces With a Jack-Knife.

The Awful Product of Sixty-seven and a Half Cents Worth of Internal Revenue.

Nonwicket, Conn., October 13.—A mile northwest of the village of West Ashford, in Windham County, at a lonely cross road, is a big, old-fashioned farmhouse that was the scene of a terrible fight between two brothers, and ended in murder.

George Squires, owner of the place, and his father, Bradley Squires, lived with him. A brother, Joseph, had been visiting at the home for several weeks, and on Saturday there was a drunken quarrel between the two brothers, and Andrew Squires, another brother, was present. To make the fight swing easier.

THREE QUARTERS OF WHISKY had been provided for the party, and in the afternoon all were under the influence. Notably the brothers talked over wagon wheels, at first in good humor, but finally Andrew and Joseph quarreled, and the latter knocked his brother down with his fist. Andrew at once sprang to his feet, and, drawing his big jack-knife—a popular weapon among Connecticut farmers—seized the head of Joseph, cutting and slashing at his head. In an instant Joseph's knife was out, and a regular duel ensued that lasted for several minutes and sprinkled both floor, the buckwheat stove and the walls with blood. Both men were skilled in handling the stout-bone handled curved pointed blades, and backward and forward the men pressed each other, cutting and wounding off.

MURDEROUS THREATS. Before the fight terminated Joseph, who was overmatched, received three gashing wounds in the breast, one in the neck, another in the arm, several in the back of the head, and a long fatal cut that extended from the back of the ear across the jugular vein. In his death agony he writhed out of the barn door in an effort to get away from the murderer, but Andrew, with one arm around his victim's body, refused to let him go, and he was dragged along. It was not until George Squires pulled Andrew off his brother's body by main strength that Andrew ceased his attack.

CHARGED HIS BROTHERS. Joseph died about nine o'clock the same evening. Andrew and his father escaped by the farm track, driving rapidly away. No attention was given to the wound until Sunday morning, when several men came to the house and then he was dying. He was about forty-five years of age. Yesterday Andrew Squires was arrested at his home, and a few miles away he was taken before a Justice of the Peace. A coroner's inquest was held there at Squires' farm, where the murder was perpetrated, and Andrew was committed for trial before the Supreme Court on the charge of murder.

A Bloody Mystery. CINCINNATI, N. H., October 14.—On Sunday evening a young lady about twenty years of age started on foot to go from the Tenacoe House to the house of Jeremiah Stevens, the father of a child distant. At half past six o'clock she arrived at her destination with her clothing covered with blood, which flowed from gashes on both wrists. All she could say was that she remembered passing a certain large oak tree on the road, and the next she remembered she was sitting beside the road with gashes in her wrists copiously bleeding. She appeared so much shocked and could give no explanation of her wounds. There was no other evidence that any assault had been attempted. Upon the fact that she was a few miles away from the road, and upon the right wrist eleven gashes were parallel about a quarter of an inch apart, and so deep as to bleed freely. The affair is shrouded in mystery. The young lady bears an excellent reputation.

Wholesale Foreclosure. CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—In North Sydney, N. H., a few days ago, a gentleman in purchasing a ticket passed a bogus five-pound note of the Commercial Bank of Newfoundland. He was arrested, but as he redeemed the note and told where he obtained it, he was allowed to go. It was reported that several years ago a £10,000 package of notes for the Commercial Bank were struck off in England and sent to Newfoundland by a steamer which was wrecked on the island of St. Pierre. The notes, numbering from 100 to 10,000, were recovered by some unknown parties and put in circulation, the signature being forged so cleverly that persons could detect them only by the numbers.

International Prime Meridian Congress. WASHINGTON, D. C., October 14.—The International Prime Meridian Congress assembled at noon yesterday. The proposition advanced by the French delegates for the adoption of a new meridian was after discussion rejected by a vote of three to twenty-one. France, Brazil and San Domingo only favoring it. The proposition originally offered by Mr. Hathorn, of the United States, favoring Greenwich as the initial meridian, was then taken up and discussed.

Mr. Lefebvre opposed its adoption, saying that it was not the national meridian; that it impeded progress in any of the sciences, but was merely a commercial standard. As nothing could be gained to science by adopting Greenwich, France, he said, could not make a sacrifice of her own meridian, and incur the vast expense consequent upon the adoption of a new one.

Sir Thompson, of England, was present as a guest, and by invitation spoke in favor of the Greenwich meridian. He argued that it was purely a matter of convenience, and Greenwich was the most convenient of the world better than any other standard meridian.

The resolution favoring the Greenwich meridian was then adopted, twenty-one nations favoring it, one, San Domingo, voting against it, and France and Brazil abstaining from voting.

Mr. Hathorn then moved the adoption of a resolution proposing to adopt longitude in two directions, East and West, 180 degrees from Greenwich.

Congressmen, the Swedish Minister, proposed to count longitude continuously from the whole 360 degrees. These two propositions were discussed briefly, but without taking a vote the Congress adjourned, until 1 p. m. to-day.

Walking Magazines. CINCINNATI, O., October 14.—The Evening Post, an independent paper with a Democratic tendency and free trade proclivities, contains the following, giving a candid account of the situation yesterday.

News in the history of Cincinnati has probably not been so intense, or so full of excitement, as the situation yesterday. Large numbers of men, many of them looking like soldiers, were seen in the streets, walking the streets, and the touch of a loaded match to ignite a fuse which would set any city on fire.

Large numbers of men, many of them looking like soldiers, were seen in the streets, walking the streets, and the touch of a loaded match to ignite a fuse which would set any city on fire.

There are few men conversing in the vicinity of the United States Marshal's office, and the few who are seen are seen in the vicinity of the United States Marshal's office, and the few who are seen are seen in the vicinity of the United States Marshal's office.

Five hundred policemen are being sworn in to the number 1,000 that the chief of police has his men in the morning in conference as to the best means of preserving the peace.

Worked Up Well, But Successfully. CINCINNATI, O., October 14.—The Times-Star, claiming the title of independence and impartiality, printed the following last evening:

Everybody wants to know the situation as it is. There is nothing to tell that has not already been told. It is a case of "head or tail." All the election in 1876 and 1880, showed the vote was in the hands of the majority. It is a case of "head or tail." ### John Feeney and John McGuire are the names of the parties accused of burglariously entering Phil. Kemper's grocery store on Saturday night. They were also arrested for breaking into Jacob Hendrick's carpenter shop the same night. Both were brought before Justice Curtis last evening to answer the charges. They told States Attorney Johns that they preferred to waive arraignment and they were held to await the action of the December grand jury. Bail was fixed at $200 each, in default of which sum both were committed to jail. The prisoners are strangers in Decatur. The evidence against them is pretty conclusive.

Death Under a Train. John Navin, of 839 East Condit street, accidentally fell under the Wahash gravel train near Boody, last evening, and received injuries which caused his death fifteen minutes later. The body was brought to Decatur, and to-day Coroner Bendure and a jury held an inquest at the home of the deceased. The jury members were John McWhinney, Pat Sheehan, Michael Kelly, Chester Lusk, Miles McGinnigal and W. H. Neville. The evidence went to show that the old man slipped off between the cars and under the wheels while the train was moving at about six miles an hour. The deceased was 65 years of age, and has been a widower seven years. He leaves several children grown. The jury signed a verdict of accidental death. The funeral will take place from the Catholic church to-morrow afternoon.

The Lynch-Graham Meeting. The Democrats made a little stir about the city last evening, making a show of 140 torches and lamps in line. There were less than 100 voters in the procession, the absence of the high-toned Democrats who persist in refusing to march with the "rough crowd," being particularly noticeable. The squad was headed by the G. A. R. band, and served as an escort for the speakers. The meeting was held at the opera house with a small audience present. S. S. Jack served as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker, Hon. Edward Lynch, of Lincoln, who spoke at some length, rehearsing old campaign swash, but giving no arguments. He was put up to entertain Democrats and succeeded in a measure. J. M. Graham, in pronouncing the benediction, endorsed what Lynch said and the meeting closed at 9:45. The "enthusiasm" generated by the band failed to hold out and a quick adjournment was a matter of necessity, as the audience began to thin out rather suddenly.

A Disorderly Case. Mrs. James W. Clark, wife of the gambler who is at Joliet on a three-year visit, resides with her three children on Mason street. A month ago several young men came to the house between 10 and 11 o'clock at night and burst open the door and entered the room. Again, about a week ago, one Lambert was guilty of the same offense. He pleaded guilty and was fined. A brother of the chap is now arrested for the first disorderly conduct and he is having a hearing in Justice Currie's court to-day, Lee appearing for the defendant, and I. R. Mills for the city.

The court after hearing the evidence, discharged the prisoner. He proved an alibi, showing that he was at home and in bed sick on the night in question.

The Banquet Festival. The festival given by members of Blaine and Logan Club No. 2, at headquarters last night, was a success, the receipts amounting to nearly $40. The refreshments were toothsome and sold rapidly. The proceeds will be used to pay for an elegant campaign banner for the club which will be made by Mrs. M. B. Hall.

Republican Battalion, Attention. All marching clubs forming the Republican battalion will meet at headquarters Wednesday evening, Oct. 15, at 7 o'clock, to make a parade. F. M. Young, Major.

Attention, Escort Club. All members of the Young Men's Republican Escort Club are requested to meet at headquarters on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15th, at 7 o'clock sharp. Appear in uniform for parade to attend the Taylor meeting. W. M. Strang, Capt. G. R. Dodson, C. S.

"Confusion" To-Night. "Confusion" is the latest comedy success by Joseph Denick, which had the enormous run of 425 nights in London, England, and 150 nights in New York city, and for which Mr. Goodwin paid the enormous amount of $10,000 for the rights of America and Canada. It has so tickled audiences with laughter that Mr. Goodwin will retain the merry piece for months to come, with its plentiful crop of misunderstandings. One of the most amusing situations is at the end of the first act, when the young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Little, who are the only love-making passages between the two delectable bachelors, Christopher Blizard, by the discovery on the floor of a piece of telegram which she supposed had been dropped, and which conveys to her the astounding message, "Come to town, your baby is worse." The fun becomes fast and furious. Mr. Goodwin has surrounded himself with a very strong company of artists and will produce the above laughable comedy at the opera house to-night.

The Prohibition Meeting. The Prohibitionists are busy themselves preparing for the rally which will be held in this city next Thursday. An effort will be made to make it the most notable event of their campaign in Central Illinois. Addresses will be made by Hon. J. B. Hobbs, of Chicago, Prohibition candidate for governor; Geo. C. Christian, chairman Prohibition State Central committee; Dr. J. L. Perry, of Belleville; Hon. Hale Johnson, of Newton; Dr. C. Knox, of Jerseyville; Wm. P. Randolph, and Capt. D. H. Harbo, of Lincoln. The gentlemen will arrive at 10:40 Thursday forenoon from Lincoln. They will be received at the depot on behalf of the Prohibitionists by J. R. Gorin, Jesse Leforge and A. Watt, and will be conveyed in carriages to the Tabernacle where they will remain until a citizen's committee of leading Prohibitionists as follows: Thos. A. Pritchett, Joseph M. Dawson, Elder Taylor, Thos. Hayes, Dr. L. L. Jones, Rev. M. B. Newcomer, M. P. Murphy, Rev. W. Pinkerton, Capt. J. S. Post, Elder H. W. Trueblood, Rev. W. P. Orinsey, Dr. J. S. King, E. S. Roe, Dr. Geo. B. Voeberg, W. T. Evans, H. W. Chamberlain, W. C. Outten, L. B. Ganser, Z. Boninger, R. E. Andrews, W. Deakin, Wm. Light, R. King Smith, Geo. Danney, Rev. W. E. Nipple, Richard Kirby, W. Coombs, E. J. And and others. The members of this committee will meet at the Tabernacle at 10:30 sharp on Thursday forenoon.

Be careful to note the fact that you can buy better goods, and more of them, for the same money, at Linn & Scruggs, than anywhere else.

The Beethoven Recital.

The first of the series of monthly recitals of the Decatur Musical College was given last evening by the faculty of the college before a select musical audience composed of pupils and their parents.

At promptly eight o'clock the beautiful and simple rooms of the college being well filled with invited guests, the programme was at once announced. As Beethoven had been chosen as the subject of the evening, the first number on the programme was very appropriately a lecture on the great master by Miss Clara Erwin, teacher of harmony in the institution. The subject matter evoked a careful preparation of details and a deep and thorough knowledge of the author's work. It was a literary production throughout and displayed the writer's skill in sketching the life and labors of a great composer in such a manner as to entertain a critical audience. The ambition of this young teacher should certainly be encouraged, and in coming at the first time to such an audience to act for the first time in her own position.

This was immediately followed by a musical programme made up of selections from the works of Beethoven. The first number was a piano and violin production, by Miss Hitechock and Prof. Bull. Part first, the adagio, was a most touching and beautiful movement. Both performers were not only well acquainted with their individual parts but harmonized their efforts in such a way as to call forth the applause of the audience. The second part, the scherzo, was a fine display of the difficult playing and was most highly appreciated.

The second number was selected as a fair type of the composer's efforts in the great school of the piano forte. Two movements of the Sonata Pathétique were rendered by Miss Hitechock in her most admirable style, showing not only the fitness of the selection itself but also the performer's adaptability to the subject. Miss Hitechock's touch may be said to be of that peculiar nature adapted to the rendition of this master of the Sonatas. Her details are always finely finished. The most difficult passages are always characterized by smoothness, and in an effort she displayed her talents to advantage and to the entire satisfaction of all her friends.

The third number was Beethoven's celebrated air with variations, sung by Mrs. S. B. Oakes. This extremely difficult composition was rendered in the style showing that hard and patient practice will overcome difficulties at first apparently impossible to surmount. Mrs. Oakes has been with us now about a year and those who had the opportunity to hear her last night received a new treat. She responded to her encore with "The Day of Jubilee" sung to the air of "The Last Rose of Summer," this being sung in English was thoroughly appreciated. It is as rare as it is delightful to hear a song sung so that the words can be understood, but Mrs. Oakes has this art to perfection.

Number four was a violin solo by Prof. Bull, who seemed to be in the best of spirits, and capable of presenting in his own unrivaled, original style, one of the greatest concertos ever written for the violin. Too much could not be said of this performance. His audience could simply listen and admire. It was a carefully studied rendering yet played as though it were played from his own feelings. The cadenza introduced abounding in difficult passages and complicated bearings was played with great skill and exactness.

Next to the last was another piano solo by Miss Hitechock, who presented the ever to be remembered passages of the "Moonlight Sonata," in all their exquisite wealth of harmony and expression.

The concert closed with a chorus, "Awake my Soul," by the pupils of the college, under the direction of Prof. Bull, who, as a chorus master, has already established a considerable reputation. The parts were well taken and the harmonies evenly balanced.

Thus closed the opening recital of the new year, reflecting great credit upon the principal in her arduous efforts to establish upon a firm and systematic basis, a school for lovers and students of the great art of music.

NUPITALS OF REV. MR. TOWNSEND AND MISS SMITH.

The Marriage of All Saints' Cathedral at High Noon, of Rev. S. De Lancy Townsend and Miss Kathryn Smith—Cousins of the Bridal Party and the Ceremony.

From the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin. Rev. S. De Lancy Townsend, a young Episcopal clergyman, at present stationed over a congregation at Whitewater, Wis., and Miss Kathryn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, of this city, were united in wedlock at All Saints' Cathedral, at high noon today, by Rev. George F. Seymour, Bishop of Springfield, officiating. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The chancel rail and the choir railings on either side of the central space leading up to the altar were hidden by hedges of tropical plants, and the altar was covered with beautiful green house flowers. The wedding party composed two processions. The former of these moved into the church from the vestry. It was headed by the choir boys, dressed in their white surplices and preceded by a cross-bearer. As they marched, the hymn, "The Lord is God," by Mozart. Next in order came the attending clergy in their robes, followed by Bishops Wells, of Wisconsin, and Seymour, of Springfield. The groom, attended by his best man, Sidney Shepherd, brought up the rear of the procession. Just as the members of the choir settled into their seats the head of the procession appeared at the main door of the church and began to move up the center aisle. In advance went three ushers—William F. Lynde, J. A. Abbott Lawrence and William W. Collins—marching abreast; then came the bride's mother, escorted by the chief usher, Bradley G. Schley, then the bride, leaning upon her father's arm. The groom and his best man, followed by Bishop Seymour, moved forward from the chancel rail and met the bride and her father at the choir steps, where the first part of the marriage ceremony, technically known as the betrothal, was gone through with. At its conclusion the betrothed pair followed the Bishop to the altar, where the marriage ceremony proper was performed. Then the bride and groom, closely followed by Mr. Shepard, preceded the rest of the party in leaving the church, the choir meanwhile repeating Mozart's bridal hymn. Miss Fourson presided at the organ. The impressive ceremony was witnessed by a brilliant assemblage which completely filled the church. The ladies' toilets were notably elegant. The bride was attired in a costume of white satin, on train. She wore a large and elaborate crown of white roses and carried a single lily in her hand. A veil of white tulle draped about her in graceful folds. Mrs. Smith wore a costume of black and white, on train, with a train of wide Chantilly lace. The bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Hubbard, the bride's sister, was attired in an elegant dress of white velvet, brocade, a combination of fawn and sapphire blue, with a bonnet to correspond. The clergy present, besides Bishop Seymour and the Bishop-elect, Dean Erasmus Spaulding, R. C. G. L. Melroy, Rev. H. N. Skinner, Rev. H. St. George, and Rev. Dr. William Bliss Ashley, Mrs. W. H. Bonner, of Annapolis, Md., the groom's mother, and other relatives of the bride and groom, from the East, as well as a large party from Whitewater, consisted of the members of Mr. Townsend's congregation, who, in attendance. The ceremony at the church was followed by a wedding breakfast at the residence of the bride's parents, at which only members of the wedding party were present. By the 4 o'clock train this afternoon the newly married pair left for a wedding tour in the West. Rev. Townsend is a young clergyman of brilliant ability and promise. He took orders last fall, and was sent by Bishop Seymour to Decatur, Ill., where he performed clerical duties until about a month ago, when he assumed his present charge at Whitewater, in this state.
